This is how former trainee Lea describes her experience as a trainee at the Oslo office of Haman Group:

„During my internship at Haman Scandinavia, I gained valuable insights into the tourism industry and its operations. From the start, I was actively involved in the booking processes and progressively entrusted with more significant responsibilities. This experience allowed me to develop a strong sense of structure and prioritization, efficiently organizing tasks based on urgency and importance.

Throughout my time at Haman Scandinavia, I enhanced my disciplinary skills, including organizational flexibility, time management, and efficiency, all crucial for handling multiple tasks simultaneously. I regularly communicated with suppliers and customers through email and phone, honing my interpersonal and professional communication skills.

I also familiarized myself with various Scandinavian destinations, understanding their unique attractions and tourism potential. Additionally, I learned about different tourism products and emerging trends, allowing me to stay updated with the latest industry developments. Working with booking systems provided me with hands-on experience in managing reservations and customer information.

Lastly, I truly enjoyed being part of the Haman team as everyone there is very warm and welcoming. You could always find assistance when needed and it was easy to feel part of the team. In fact, I enjoyed my time with Haman Scandinavia so much that I was very happy to receive the opportunity to keep working at Authentic Scandinavia, their sister company."
